Portals

After the successful launch of browsergames.de, Covus Games added another portal to its portfolio: browsergamez.com. The recently launched English-language web portal has formed a base for future expansion in the European and international sectors.

All portals have one important similarity: the Covus Games created feature GamesAD-Server (GAS), which manages the delivery and number of page impressions of online games with the help of a complex formula. The popularity of the games, conversion rate and sales of game titles are all criteria which are measured.

In addition to all of this, Covus Games offers consultation services for the development, distribution and marketing of new online games.
